

Chop, Chop! A Secure Network for 1200 Staff at 22 Locations.

The Bluff Meat Supply/Mndeni Meat Group was founded in 1960 as a family butchery business. Since then, the company has grown throughout South Africa's KwaZulu-Natal province, and currently employs some 1200 members of staff at 22 locations, encompassing both the retail and manufacturing sides of the business. But with growth came new challenges, including an increased danger of attack or security breach. Maintaining and upgrading network safety became a priority.

Business Need

After an assessment, the IT team at Bluff Meat Supply decided that improved security and protection for their wide-ranging network was required. VPN tunnels needed to be established to all company branch sites, in order for users at these sites to securely and efficiently access company servers at Head Office.

Solution

To generate the high level of security required, TZ firewalls were installed at all the company's branch sites and site-to-site VPN tunnels were created, supported further by the implementation of Capture ATP. A centralized security management strategy was introduced using SonicWall's Network Security Manager.

Results

The SonicWall solution allowed Bluff Meat Supply to guarantee secure, stable VPN tunnels to all its branch offices, ensuring network security and increasing productivity. SonicWall appliances also allowed centralized security management, easing the level of administration required and reducing support costs.

Benefits

- Increased network security and stability
- Improved productivity
