

ABM Experiences Reliable Connectivity and Reduced Administrative Times with SonicWall

International design and construction company ABM is delighted to have its security and connectivity needs met by a single manufacturer.

Business Need

Since 1994, ABM has been delivering high-quality public sector, commercial and industrial projects in Ireland and across Europe. Based in Swords, Co. Dublin, ABM is a market leader in the design and build of educational and residential construction projects. ABM had previously been using multiple vendors to meet its security needs but wanted to switch to a single manufacturer that could provide a holistic view across its entire network infrastructure. The organization also needed edge and access solutions with straightforward deployment capabilities to enable it to scale quickly as new sites are developed. ABM wanted security services that could easily integrate with its wider infrastructure and to reduce administrative costs by switching to a single manufacturer. On top of that, the company needed to resolve poor wireless connectivity issues at multiple sites and needed a system that could handle advanced threats.

Solution

ABM decided to make the switch to SonicWall to handle its security and solve its connectivity issues. The company leveraged SonicWall Capture Security Center to centrally manage its view of threats traversing the infrastructure across distributed sites. It also deployed TZ Series firewalls across multiple sites using centralized configurations and zero-touch deployment. Connectivity issues were resolved by deploying SonicWave Secure Wireless Access Points with WiFi 6 capabilities. The company also reduced administrative and support hours using SonicWall Wireless Network Manager to provide a quick and complete overview of any scenario.

Results

After switching to SonicWall, ABM has experienced the benefits of reduced administrative and support times with Captures Security Center's single-pane-of-glass view. All aspects of its network infrastructure are now secure, and the wireless connectivity issues have been resolved which has allowed ABMs teams to maintain focus on what's important to them. ABM's General Manager Philip Weinmann said, "SonicWall products have fit into our organization seamlessly and provided solutions that can scale with us as we grow."
