

Health Insurance Company Fortifies its Network Architecture with SonicWall

InLife Health Care (IHC) unifies its network security across global locations with SonicWall's integrated firewall solution with centralized management capabilities

Business need

InLife Health Care is a leading health insurance company offering 100% digital health solutions to retail and corporate customers. IHC's relentless focus on customer experience and deep ties with the healthcare ecosystem enables them to deliver diverse solutions at affordable price points. IHC operates in a highly regulated industry and holds sensitive client data in a distributed structure. For those reasons, they wanted to bolster their network perimeter and centralize security management with a unified solution.

Solution

InLife Health Care realized a valuable network security transformation with SonicWall's advanced firewall and security management capabilities. They deployed SonicWall NSa and TZ Series NGFWs along with SonicWave 600 Series Access Points (APs) to achieve enhanced security protection, high performance and seamless integration while minimizing complexity. IHC also deployed SonicWall's award-winning Capture Advanced Threat Protection (ATP) alongside Network Security Manager (NSM) which provided single-pane-of-glass security management capabilities for centralized visibility and real-time threat management.

Results

With SonicWall, InLife Health Care was able to achieve enterprise-grade security with minimal cost and complexity. The SonicWall solutions offered single-pane-of-glass management, reporting and analytics capabilities with the ability to integrate global templates and security policies.

The unified security architecture with centralized cloud-based and on-prem management enabled them to protect their scaling business across multiple locations from unprecedented security risks while helping them stay compliant with their regulatory needs.
