HIGH-TECH TERRITORY

Leading electrical solutions provider benefits from SonicWall security platform to protect high-performance, country-wide infrastructure.

Business need

EnergoBit has a data center located at its headquarters, plus seven main subsidiaries , other 8 offices and 6 business locations throughout the country.

The company needed an upgraded communication infrastructure, a new security policy and increased protection over its entire network. A boost of network performance and increased data traffic speed were also necessary.

New channels for communicating between business locations and HQ needed to be secured. At the same time, the company needed centralized data inside HQ, which could be easily accessed and used from the territory.

Solution

A new communication network was deployed and almost all the devices were connected to EnergoBit's own VPNs using a SonicWall security platform.

Inside HQ, and in every subsidiary, the company uses a multi-path structure over two internet providers. Considering this very efficient network infrastructure, all employees have remote access to data.

The upgraded infrastructure includes brand-new technologies, on-premises servers and virtual machines, LAN 10 GbE infrastructure.

Benefits

- ROI in less than 2.5 years
- High benefits after migration to the new infrastructure and the new SonicWall platform:
  o Higher speed for data transfer o Improved security
  o Network uptime close to 100%
- Integrated overview on the entire network; almost 700 devices from all over the country were integrated into a single secured platform
- New SonicWall infrastructure offers an improved scalability
