Supply Chain Solutions Firm Establishes Secure Azure and Site-to-Site Tunnels by Leveraging SonicWall's Next-Gen Firewall

Business need

Mentor Media is a well-known supply chain solutions provider engaged in designing and deploying end-to-end supply chain services customized to their industry-wide clients' requirements. As a wholly-owned subsidiary of Elanders Group, Mentor Media operates across continents.

For several years, the company has been focused on creating more effective and robust supply chain solutions. The endeavor required exploring and establishing a hybrid and private cloud in Azure. The project hit various roadblocks as the existing firewall and its upgraded patch failed to support Azure tunnels between the sites. Mentor Media needed a new firewall solution to resolve the persisting issues.

Solution

After analyzing all the relevant solutions and POCs, Mentor Media found SonicWall's solutions to be most suitable for their requirement. During POC, Mentor Media witnessed the products' intuitive GUI interface, which simplified setting up, monitoring and maintaining the firewall with the SonicWall Global Management System. Consequently, they decided to opt for SonicWall's next-generation security appliances – NSa 4650, NSa 2650, SOHO 250, and TZ 370.

Results

At the implementation stage, Mentor Media's network engineer was able to configure and understand the workings of the new firewalls without requiring any specialized certifications or using any firewall coding knowledge.

Post-deployment, the firewalls supported the setup of IKEv2 Azure tunnels and site-to-site VPN tunnels. Mentor Media also realized the effectiveness of SonicWall's content filtering services and high-performance network security for their office users and business dealings.
